~~Roger Berkowitz - Wikipedia~~

Uncommon Sense makes the wealth of short sayings, contrasts, and metaphors found in Proverbs more accessible and applicable by dividing them according to the Greatest Commandment (heart, soul, mind, strength, love of neighbor). The study also begins with a week of background and introduction to Proverbs.

If common sense were common, many of us would be out of work. We must dare to be uncommon. Dare to stand out or stand alone by doing what's right. Or what needs doing. While others wait to see what's safe or popular, dare to take a risk and push forward. If the herd is rushing forward towards a cliff, dare to change direction or stop.
