Mothers of Invention is a fascinating study of the 'politics of invention' articulated by women in mass culture, political thought, and daily life during the Fascist period. In short, Robin Pickering-lazzi's book is an appropriately interdisciplinary study of cultural production and gender during Fascism.

Mothers of Invention draws upon the writings of Confederate women—popular fiction as well as letters and diaries—to paint a picture of cataclysmic social change. At first, says Faust, women had to contend with feelings of uselessness as their men left for war. They frequently lamented the fact that, as women, they could not fight for the South.
