Settings for Portraits in Natural Light with the Fujifilm X Series. The goal in all forms of photography should be to set your camera up so that it gets out of the way and allows you to work with the world in front of you. This is especially true in a portrait setting as you have another human (s) in front of you that requires your attention more than the black box between you.

So if you want to learn a little bit more about the rise of interior photography and what kit to use, you are in the right place! I switched my DSLR for the Fujifilm XT1 not long ago and it's all I have been using until just recently, when I also added to my kit a new Fujifilm XT2. I use mainly prime lenses for everything except for interiors.
