Why tipping in America is up for debate. The proposed law would play to their sense of victimisation. This is a shame. Law and Justice is not anti-Semitic, and its leaders are firmly pro-Israel. But introducing criminal penalties into intellectual debate is no way to deal with historical resentments.

Theory of the Politics of Memory - Oxford Scholarship

In The Politics of Memory, Joanne Rappaport answers this question by tracing the past three centuries of the intellectual history of the Nasa—a community in the Colombian Andes. Focusing on the Nasa historians of the eighteenth through twentieth centuries, Rappaport highlights the differences between "native" history and Eurocentric history and demonstrates how these histories must be examined in relation to the particular circumstances in which they were produced.
