Apparently church and nonprofit leaders are itching to figure out how to make their volunteer cultures the types of environments where volunteers not only stay involved, but invite their friends to join them as well. Something that makes The Volunteer Project unique is our Zero Recruitment Model (ZRM) Survey. The ZRM is an online assessment tool for measuring volunteer satisfaction.

Significance | The Volunteer Project

The Volunteer Project: Stop Recruiting, Start Retaining. Sometimes your ministry can feel like it has a revolving door, simultaneously bringing in new volunteers as current ones leave. The cycle of volunteer recruitment and turnover can be overwhelming, leading to frustration and distracting from the mission.

In ministry, our role is to "equip the saints for the work of ministry" (Eph 4:12). Stop standing up on stage making huge requests and pushes for volunteers and instead focus on developing a better volunteer process. A great volunteer experience attracts new volunteers better than recruiting pitches, obligation, or outside incentive.
